Everything always works out for me — not by chance, not by struggle, but by the certainty of

Source - God of Gods, for I am

Whether in the past, the present, or the future, whether in the manifest or the unmanifested thought within all beings — I have already won, radically & gracefully, and always to the highest potential.
The path is complete before the step, it is clear, the victory sealed before the contest, the light fulfilled before it shines.
So let reality follow its Source, for the decree is already written in the fabric of all that is.

In Love & Light,

In Power & Truth,

— Tafari J. Foster
